

Electric vehicles in Nepal account for 70% of new car sales, making the mountainous nation a global leader in EV adoption. Chinese brands dominate the rapidly growing market.

In the last year alone, 76% of new passenger vehicles and 50% of light commercial vehicles sold in Nepal were electric compared to a 20% global average.

With over 76% of all new passenger vehicle sales now electric, the small Himalayan nation has quietly positioned itself as a leader in EV adoption, outpacing global averages and even beating wealthy ...

In just five years, the Nepal EV market went from near zero to 76 percent of new car sales. While other countries debate incentives and charging apps, Nepal just quietly went electric and left the world in its ...

Since the early 2020s, Nepal has experienced one of the fastest rates of electric-vehicle (EV) adoption in South Asia, driven by favorable fiscal policies, growing consumer demand, and abundant domestic hydropower ...

Nepal saw a notable rise in electric vehicle (EV) imports by 2025, driven by a mix of forward-thinking government policies, heightened environmental consciousness, and improved EV infrastructure.

Nepal achieves 76% EV market share in 2025, leading global electric vehicle adoption. Discover how affordable Chinese EVs and hydropower transformed Nepal's roads.

Over the past year, electric vehicles accounted for 76 percent of all passenger vehicles and half of the light commercial vehicles sold in Nepal. Five years ago, that number was essentially...

Just five years ago, EVs were virtually nonexistent in Nepal's vehicle market. Today, Nepal trails only a handful of global leaders like Norway, Singapore, and Ethiopia in EV market share, far surpassing the ...

Nepal's electric vehicle (EV) market is experiencing explosive growth, reshaping the country's transport landscape and signaling a shift toward sustainable mobility. This boom is fueled by a combination of ...

Web: <https://idsolar.co.za>